If one-third or even one-quarter of the thoroughbreds entered in the two great classics of the Eastern turf, the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps, go to the post, there promises to be two of the finest horse races ever seen since the inauguration of the events. The secretaries of the Brooklyn and Coney Island Jockey Clubs in announcing the lists show that for the Brooklyn Handicap sixty-three nominations have been made, and sixty-six for the Suburban. The showing is most creditable considering that the far West is yet to be heard

Hermis, the best three-year-old of last season, is entered in both handicaps. Advance Guard, one of the best horses in the country, is also on the list. E. J. Arnold, the owner of Gold Heels, evidently believes he will stand the ordeal of training, for he has entered the winner of the "Dual Crown" in both big races at Gravesend and Sheepshead Bay. Major Dangerfield will also try for both the clubs that will offer a purse, and honors. Olympian, who failed in both, will try to regain his prestige in these
